History of The Sky-Line Club

Originally located in the Sussex region of southern England, the old ale house was carefully dismantled and reconstructed at its present site almost 100 years ago. Many of the paintings and furnishings from the original pub grace the interior today. Capsuled within the stately décor of the Club, members have watched the City's skyline evolve into a Twenty-First Century metropolis. A Chicago reporter once described the Club as having "the dignified elegance of aged beauty, and the timeless warmth of good company."

With these 200 years of history, The Sky-Line Club is indeed one of the oldest private membership facilities in Chicago.
